HJR 492

March 9, 2000

SUMMARY OF BILL: Encourages the Tennessee Historical Commission to document stone walls worthy of preservation and to develop criteria for their protection and preservation, including standards for moving and rebuilding such walls when other alternatives are not available.

ESTIMATED FISCAL IMPACT:

MINIMAL

The resolution encourages but does not mandate that the Tennessee Historical Commission document stone walls and develop criteria for their protection and preservation.

For information purposes, the Tennessee Historical Commission indicates that, based upon architectural and archaeological surveys conducted by contract, documentation of such stone walls will require two to three years at an estimated cost of approximately $75,000 per year.
